The nine-month general LLM program offers outstanding graduates of foreign law schools an opportunity to expand their knowledge of American law and legal processes, continue their studies in international law, and engage in comparative legal research. LLM students are integrated with JD students both inside and outside the classroom, and the Northwestern Pritzker Law community is distinguished for its hospitality, friendliness, and sincerity.

Our lakefront location in the heart of downtown Chicago provides a spectacular setting in which to live and study. A major world financial center, Chicago is the third largest city in the United States and one of its largest legal markets. Northwestern Pritzker Law's proximity to courts, commerce, and public interest activities enables students to experience the practice of law, as well as its theory, in one of the most vibrant legal and business communities in the world.

To many international students, it is highly favorable to study and to live in such a supportive environment.

SPECIALIZATIONS & POPULAR PROGRAMS

Study law where global practice happens. St. John's Law, founded in 1925, is in Queens, one of New York City's five boroughs. The city is a global center for legal practice. Our LL.M. programs are built for lawyers who trained abroad and want practical, career-ready credentials in the U.S. We offer four degree programs:

- U.S. Legal Studies LL.M. is the route to the New York bar. It is designed to prepare internationally trained attorneys to pass the New York Bar Exam and gain admission in New York. Students complete at least 24 credits, and many take 24-30.
- Transnational Legal Practice LL.M. is for lawyers who plan to work across borders. It trains foreign attorneys in cross-border practice within the New York City legal community and builds their skills in practicing law in English.
- Bankruptcy LL.M. is the nation's only LL.M. devoted to bankruptcy law, taught by leading practitioners, judges and academics.
- Real Estate LL.M. draws on the school's New York City location and its ties to the real estate industry.
- Every year we train over 50 foreign-trained lawyers who want New York bar eligibility, cross-border practice skills, or a specialty in insolvency or real estate, all in a one-year, full-time format.

Stetson University College of Law, located in the Tampa Bay area of Florida, is Florida's first law school and is nationally recognized for its emphasis on advocacy, experiential education, and professional preparation. Stetson offers the Juris Doctor (J.D.) as well as advanced graduate law degrees for U.S. and internationally educated attorneys.
Stetson Law currently offers four Master of Laws (LL.M.) programs: Advocacy, Elder Law, Environmental Law, and International Law. The Advocacy and Elder Law LL.M. programs are offered online, while the International Law and Environmental Law programs are based at Stetson's Gulfport, Florida campus.

The LL.M. in International Law is particularly designed for both internationally and U.S.-educated lawyers and offers two tracks: American Legal Studies and Public/Private International Law. The American Legal Studies track focuses on the U.S. legal system and legal practice and is structured to meet the educational eligibility requirements for the New York Bar Examination for qualifying foreign-trained attorneys. The Public/Private International Law track provides advanced study in international legal issues and can provide a pathway for eligible foreign-trained attorneys to Stetson's accelerated two-year J.D. program. Stetson's International Law LL.M. community includes more than 300 alumni from approximately 60 countries.

Across its graduate programs, Stetson emphasizes practical legal skills, close faculty engagement, professional development, and opportunities for attorneys to expand or specialize their legal expertise.

We are often asked what makes Berkeley Law special. First, it is an excellent law school by every measure. The quality of any educational institution is a product of its faculty, students, and programs. Berkeley Law has a terrific faculty. They are top scholars in their fields; many have written the books used in law school classes across the country. They are also great teachers. Our students are exceptional, representing over 50 countries across the globe.

Second, Berkeley Law is home to a wide range of academic centers and programs conducting cutting-edge work in virtually every area of law — from technology and IP to social justice and environmental law. In everything we do, Berkeley Law is animated by a public mission, to use law to make our community, our society, and our world better.

Finally, Berkeley Law is a very special community. It is a warm, collegial environment. It is an intellectually exciting law school, with a plethora of speakers and programs and symposia every week. It is part of a superb and beautiful campus in a great location.

There are two additional highly limited and competitive full-tuition funding opportunities for which applicants may apply separately, if eligible. These include the Critical Race Studies Fellowship and Health & Human Rights Fellowship. These grants are awarded based on academic and professional goals relating to substantive areas of law in the Critical Race Theory, discrimination, public interest, health, human rights, gender equality, or other similar social justice arenas. Eligibility for both fellowship opportunities requires completion of specific coursework in these disciplines during the LL.M., demonstrated prior background experience in and commitment to advocacy in these areas, and an attestation that the applicant will return to their home country following their graduation from the program.

Ever since the first LLM class graduated from Michigan Law 135 years ago, we have provided a warm, intellectually stimulating, and internationally minded environment for students. Our kind and welcoming community is invested in the academic, professional, and personal successes of our LLM students.

Our LLM class is small to allow students to build meaningful and lasting connections with their classmates. Students learn from and pursue research under the guidance of preeminent faculty who spearhead innovative scholarship and reform across myriad legal areas. Our faculty are accessible and approachable, and they host seminars at their homes and invite students to group lunches. Our LLM students take classes with JD students to broaden their understanding of the US legal system and expand their networks.

The Law School is an architectural gem situated in the heart of the University of Michigan, one of the world's leading public research institutions. Upon arriving at Michigan Law, students join a University community of more than 50,000 graduate and undergraduate students from six continents. All of this is set in a vibrant university town with easy access to restaurants, cafes, shops, theaters, bars, athletic venues, and parks. This is the Michigan Difference.

SPECIALIZATIONS & POPULAR PROGRAMS

We offer a general LLM program that gives students the freedom to tailor their learning experience.

SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION

Michigan Law awards LLM scholarships based on academic and professional merit and future potential in pursuing a distinguished legal career. Typically, more than 80% of the LLM class receives a scholarship from Michigan Law.

All candidates are welcome to request consideration for scholarships from Michigan Law in the admission application, which is due by 15 January 2027. Our admission and scholarship evaluations are separate processes, so requesting consideration for scholarships does not affect an applicant's admission decision.

All admitted students who request financial aid in their admission application are considered automatically for all available scholarships from the Law School.

Designed for today's dynamic professional landscape, McGeorge's LLM program nurtures leaders with three unique specializations: Transnational Business Practice, US Law and Policy, and Water and Environmental Law. Elevate your legal education with our immersive program that goes beyond the textbook. Combine classroom theoretical instructions with real-world experience to develop the skills that matter most, such as completing the necessary coursework to qualify for and pass a bar exam in the United States.

In addition, our doctoral degree (JSD) permits already accomplished lawyers to specialize in an area of international legal studies of their choosing. Our program pairs doctoral students with faculty members from day one of their program, receiving unique feedback and assistance throughout their research project.

Featuring coursework and residencies in the heart of California, Sacramento, you'll benefit from both self-paced learning and world class networking—an LLM or a JSD your way.

SPECIALIZATIONS & POPULAR PROGRAMS

LL.M. program with a focus on water and environmental law, another one for foreign-trained lawyers, and one in transnational business practice

SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION

McGeorge awards some academic merit and need-based scholarships to LLM and JSD students. These awards are made available by the allocation of University general funds, as well as the generosity of donors by means of endowed funds and alumni contributions.

General Eligibility: All incoming LLM and JSD students are eligible for scholarship consideration.

Deadline: Funding is limited — students are encouraged to apply as early as possible.

Founded in 1819 by Thomas Jefferson, the University of Virginia School of Law is located in Charlottesville, Virginia, in a UNESCO World Heritage Site nestled in the Blue Ridge Mountains, just two hours from Washington, D.C., offering both urban access and natural beauty. The faculty at UVA Law includes nationally and internationally recognized scholars in fields such as law and business, international and comparative law, intellectual property as well as law and technology. Faculty bring practical knowledge from serving in senior positions in their careers and participate in national and international dialogue on the most pressing issues of today. UVA Law is famous for fostering an academic and professional community. The relatively small size of the LL.M. class allows students to form genuine, lasting friendships with one another and with the broader J.D. community, while faculty remain especially approachable and invested in mentoring LL.M. students both in and out of the classroom.
Together, this blend of storied history, distinguished scholarship, and close-knit community makes UVA Law a truly distinctive place to study law.

SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION

Application Fee Waiver Available to EducationUSA participants.
Please complete and submit the following form to request an application fee waiver. The Law School awards a small number of Dean's Scholarships to exceptional LL.M. candidates, in recognition of their academic and professional achievements and potential for outstanding contributions to academia, public service, or the legal profession. The highly selective Dean's Scholarships are the most prestigious awards granted by the Law School to LL.M. candidates. In making these awards, the Law School devotes particular attention to candidates' academic and professional records, personal statements, and demonstrated commitment to academic excellence, leadership, and service.
The Law School also awards financial aid in the form of grants to some LL.M. candidates. If you receive a financial aid grant, it will not cover your tuition and living expenses. Generally, our financial aid grants, when given, cover less than one-third of the cost of tuition. University regulations do not permit "waivers" of tuition. We cannot provide assistance for all deserving applicants, and funds must be allocated on the basis of comparative merit and financial need. Most students must therefore expect to meet their expenses from other sources. Applicants from abroad are encouraged to contact the educational attaché at the U.S. Embassy or consulate in their home country for assistance that may be available under the Fulbright or similar programs.

Founded in 1966, Western State College of Law at Westcliff University is the longest-running law school in Orange County, California. It is known for small classes and personal attention. The LLM in US Legal Studies at Western State teaches foreign-educated lawyers and law graduates the foundations of American law. Graduates of the program will gain a comprehensive understanding of the U.S. legal system, know the basics of several specific areas of American law, learn the ethics that apply to advocates, perform modern American legal research, and gain the legal analysis skills crucial for advocacy. Additionally, the program includes simulated legal scenarios where you can apply your knowledge and skills in a practical setting. This hands-on experience prepares you for the real-world practice of law in the United States. The program is a full immersion experience that places you in the same in-person classes as J.D. students, and you will learn from experienced faculty who are experts in their fields and who will challenge you to think critically and creatively. In addition, you will benefit from your classmates' diverse perspectives and backgrounds from different countries and cultures. The program is designed to satisfy the educational requirements of the California state bar for foreign-educated attorneys. Graduates will be prepared to work in an American law office or similar setting.

SPECIALIZATIONS & POPULAR PROGRAMS

Offered LL.M. Elective Courses: Administrative Law, Constitutional Law, Criminal Procedure, Family Law, Intellectual Property, Property

SCHOLARSHIP INFORMATION

Western State College of Law offers merit-based tuition scholarships to eligible incoming and continuing students, including international students. All admitted students are automatically considered; no separate scholarship application is required. Awards are based primarily on academic merit and cover tuition only. International F-1 students who pass the selection process are awarded a scholarship of up to 50% tuition reduction. There is no separate scholarship deadline, but students are encouraged to apply for admission early because scholarship funding becomes limited later in the enrollment cycle.
